POLITICS PASSED UP.

Ferry Matter Rival Draws
Explanation of Present
Stage Reached.

Meeting—sixty strong in the Northern Hotel Monday evening, the gathering of the Redcliff Merchant's association, rechristened the Redcliff Business Men's Association, went through a volume of discussion of subjects relating to the retailer's welfare and general welfare of the town, with a touch of politics included.

One of the concrete steps taken was a motion put through to have a delegation from Redcliff in attendance at the meeting of the Box Springs branch of the United Farmers of Alberta which was scheduled for last night. Messrs J. L. Landis, H. A. Ireland and John M. Jones were appointed as the committee to go out.

There was considerable discussion in the fore part of the meeting re the political complexion, but the subject was shelved for the evening, as it was pointed out that next Monday evening's annual council meeting at the Empire theatre is the right and proper time and place to thresh out anything pertaining to town politics.

"I might say," said Councilor T. A. Hicks in reply, "that the Canadian Pacific has been supplied with all the data necessary in that matter. Mr. Mitchell, of the Department of Natural Resources, has been several times and has looked over the ground thoroughly."

Mr. Stewart recommended that when the next trade trip to the country is planned all of the autos in town turn out and get into the procession. That sign guides should be erected at all cross roads in the back country advertising the number of miles to Redcliff, thereby showing the distance advantage in coming here, instead of to Medicine Hat was again brought out. A membership fee of fifty cents a month was collected and it was proposed that with a hundred members sufficient money could be raised to defray the cost of such sign guides.

Mr. Fred Robertson brought up the subject of free express delivery, believing that the town is now big enough to warrant such service. He was supported in his contention and the Dominion Express Co. will probably be petitioned. Mr. Otto Shipley was in favor of a general market day for the farmers when special prices on merchandise and provisions will draw them in regularly on that day every week.

Suspect is Released

The man whom Chief Reynolds had under detention in Redcliff as a robbery suspect has been released, as not sufficient reason could be produced to show that he could have been implicated in the recent robberies.

Catholic Church.

Catholic church services will be held in Maple Hall on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. All are cordially urged to be present.

ORNAMENTAL IRON A BUSY PLACE

Working 14 Hours a Day and is Employing 135 Men.

The busiest manufacturing plant in Redcliff at the present time is that of the Alberta Ornamental Iron Company. The company is now employing 135 men, which is the largest force employed by any concern in Redcliff.

Mr. Corson, general manager of the plant, says the company has enough orders on hand to keep them busy for the next six months. This is very encouraging to the merchants of Redcliff and ensures a large payroll all through the winter months and well into the spring. This company will undoubtedly be compelled to enlarge their plant next year, as their business is steadily increasing and they are now using all the space they have in their present quarters.

This company has been busy for some time turning out the ornamental iron for the big Grand Trunk Pacific hotel at Edmonton, probably the largest ornamental iron contract ever let in Western Canada.

To Drill For Oil In Redcliff Within Next Thirty Days

W. R. Martin Gives Authoritative Statement Regarding Plans

There is an oil drilling rig at work on an oil lease northwest of Redcliff probably within the next thirty days," said Mr. W. R. Martin, of the International Supply Co., a Calgary representative last Monday. "Our financial affairs as concerns this project are all arranged for and there is nothing to hinder carrying it out."

The Medicine Hat concern will put one of its well drilling rigs in the field here and will put in double casing to go through the gas and go down for oil.

Eckhart Family Shows Its Musical Perfection

The Eckhart family, whose advance agents have been for some time preparing Redcliff's amusement lovers for an evening of entertainment, staged a combination of musical vaudeville stunts at the Empire last night which held everyone interested and amused up to the last minute.

The family as appearing on the local stage numbered four, the father, two sons and a daughter. All are expert and bingers and played the most popular songs in this country, but one of the younger men provided a large part of the amusement by impersonating various characters and brought down the house on his "hoodle song" song. This man was also very clever with the violin.

The production was on for but one evening, and the family is moving on to-day to other fields. The troupe has earned a wide reputation in Canada for its musical stunts, and it is particularly striking to see a man of the elder Eckharts' apparent age so active on the stage.

Bowlers Face Bad Season.

Two good bowling teams have been worked up in Redcliff, but since there are not quite enough skillful bowlers to make a house league, the boys will enter one picked team of five men against one team that Medicine Hat can send up. J. M. Jones will try to arrange a match some time next week.

LEAVES BOYS IN DISCIPLINE OF THEIR PARENTS

Juvenile Expert of Edmonton
Maps Out A Plan of Control

MUST TOE THE LINE

Refractory Redcliff Boys Are Not Criminals, But Must Be Started Right

To be under the strict daily surveillance of their parents who are to report on a form card once a week to the police showing the whereabouts of their sons at all times, their school standing and behavior, and the hour at which they go to bed every night is the plan mapped out Tuesday night for three boys of Redcliff by Officer Brooke, of Edmonton, a man who has had wide experience in juvenile work.

Mr. Brooke believes that no better way can be found to discipline and encourage the boys in left-doing at their present ages than to be left in their parents' hands if the parents exert the proper control over them. If the parents can't discipline them the only alternative is to send them to a shelter home or industrial school.

Mr. Brooke explained to the parents the workings of the courts, stating that the children are detained until they reach the age of eighteen, but that in this case the boys could hardly be charged as criminals.

Mr. Brooke reminded Officer Reynolds that in the future it is better to hold boys for examination rather than to bring charges against such young lads.

The parents of all three boys, Joe Tester, Huntley Moore and Joe Blinzenberger were required to put up a cash bond for the good behavior of the boys.

The Moore family was represented by legal counsel from Medicine Hat and the Testers by A. B. Clow of this city. The lawyers pleaded for leniency, and the evidence in the last case of breaking into a tent on Nov. 5th, for which the boys were up seemed to show that the Moore boy was leader in this escapade. He testified himself that he had gone into the tent of one Ed Short, following the Tester boy, and had rifled the pockets of clothing and took two razors, one of which he handed to the Blinzenberger boy. The other boys declare that Huntley Moore was the first to suggest and enter the tent.

It will be remembered that these boys appeared for similar offences some weeks ago and were severely reprimanded. The boys apparently did not comprehend what they have been doing, and while in court look around in an open-eyed way as though their actions were only huge pranks.

Provincial Teachers Whirled Around City

A delegation of teachers from Medicine Hat where the teachers of the Province of Alberta are in convention, is being conducted around the city this afternoon in automobiles on a tour of inspection of Redcliff's industries.

At the request of a large number of Ratepayers I have consented to stand for re-election as councillor for the Town of Redcliff.

I stand for honest administration in every municipal department, as I have in the past, and will continue in this coming election. I am, Respectfully yours, Thomas Crooks.

Note.—The above announcement was handed us just before going to press which accounts for the contradiction in the editorial.—Ed.

Baldwin Baby Dies.

Last Sunday morning the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin passed away. The child was but one year and six months old. TURNER ACQUITTED; SULLIVAN CONVICTED Latter Faced Only Technical Crime, Said Court, and is Fined Fifty Dollars—Judge Says Disclosures Were Disgrace to the Province—Jury Frees Turner in Six Minutes.

"If one half of what has come out in this court today is true it is a disgrace to the province of Alberta."—This was the opinion expressed by Judge Simmons of the Supreme Court at Medicine Hat re the conditions at Redcliff last summer, conditions which have been rooted out since they came to light.

Walter Turner, fire chief of Redcliff, was acquitted shortly after six o'clock of the charge of attempting to bribe Constable Police Sullivan and Constable Reynolds to run a disorderly house. The results of this case are the aftermath of the upheaval of last August, when the arrest of Turner came in the midst of agitation for a cleaner town.

But six minutes were consumed by the jury in deliberating and returning their verdict of not guilty. When the verdict was rendered

TWO DOGS, A CROWD OF MEN, THE LADY!

Don't Fish—Save
Their Fishing With Dramatic Separation

While some twenty odd men stood idly around, either wrapt in the love of a dog fight or transfixed with horror or stricken powerlessness to mix in or some other reason, a young woman of the south portion of town tossed her muff and bag to a bystander last Monday afternoon and jumped into the water. In a minute she was carrying triumphantly a struggling bull dog into MacNaughton's store while the other dog was circling around at a respectable distance.

The two dogs were fighting most unmercifully when the lady came upon the scene. They had a perfect arena with an interested audience and were chewing each other's ears, jaws and necks until the hair was becoming quite discolored with blood.

It is understood that "the woman in the case" is quite a dog fancier and is usually seen with one of her own.

Eaves Constructs High Class House

Mr. Fred Eaves is completing a house in Block 88 that is a credit to Redcliff, a home with the modern ideas in arrangement and convenience, yet suited to the west. The house contains down stairs five rooms and a bath, rustic brick fire place in the dining room, a hot air gas furnace, pressed brick chimney showing in the kitchen, two large closets and a large clothes press.

The front gable is cemented with broken brick, fancy stone and glass set in a very tasty and unique idea. Mr. Eaves came to Redcliff on a visit, but was so impressed with the town that he is investing his money in high class residences, having already planned another house along similar lines. It all helps in putting money into circulation and we hope he will remain one of us.

The first house will be ready for inspection in two weeks.

court adjourned till yesterday morning when Sullivan's case was due to come up.

Throughout the trial of almost two full days duration the defense contended its efforts in attempt to undermine the reliability of the accusers, the two police officers.

The combined evidence reflecting on the integrity of the accusers was boiled down in a most dramatic and forcible plea to the jury in summing up by Attorney Davidson of Davidson and Will of Medicine Hat.

In hearing the witnesses for the prosecution, of whom there were but two, the accusers, the testimony collected in all essentials except in one point in Reynolds's testimony in regard to a remark of Sullivan to Turner after placing him under arrest and ordering him into a cell.

The police officers both swore that Turner, when called into their office last August by themselves, offered them jointly a bribe of $150 a month for exemption from prosecution to run a disorderly house.

Neither were shaken in their allegations. However, when the first witness for the defense was called upon to stand the time took of evidence damaging to the prosecution as indicated evidence (tending to absolve the crown's testimony began to come out.

"From this time on I am going to run this as a wide open town; I'm going to take all the money I can get. I will show them how to run this town." Such, the witness alleged, was the statement made by Sullivan to himself on the street when the case which he (Sullivan) had brought against Frank Stokeler last June went against him.

A. B. Clow, town attorney and assessor of Redcliff, gave testimony for the defense carrying weight which had considerable to do with the final verdict. Mr. Clow testified that through his acquaintance and observation of Sullivan during his regime he had found him to be an officer not to be trusted, that he would not believe him on oath, due principally to the fact that he had seen occasion when Sullivan would suit his allegations to his purpose.

Seven or eight more Redcliff witnesses were called out to stand, most of whom cited their reasons for a tendency to disbelieve Sullivan and also spoke well of Walter Turner and his conduct in Redcliff.

Turner was then called onto the stand in his own defense, and gave an account of what he alleged actually occurred on the day in question when the policemen laid bribery charges against him.

"Gentlemen," said Turner, "if I were guilty of what is charged against me I would plead insanity and be sent to Penak."

Prosecuting Attorney Ross examined Turner in regard to the evidence which he had with Mayor Daniels one day in the summer and asked him if such a meeting occurred. Turner admitted that it did and that he complained to Daniels of one man being allowed to do a thing that another was not allowed to do. Mayor Daniels had been sent out by the jury in the audience, for what purpose is a matter of conjecture.

Attorney Davidson for the de-case summed-up the case in a powerful appeal to the jury, depicting graphically how a collision could have occurred to sacrifice Turner, an innocent man, to forestall exposure of irregularities, and how easily two men so disposed for their own salvation could make an allegation against another which could only be overthrown by contributory testimony against the accusers. The plea delineated the career of Ex-Chief Sullivan citing places he had been sent, police situations he had held and lost through dismissal or requested resignation.

Then the defense pointed to the accused, dwelling on the ease with which something could be trumped up against him over which he could have no control, of his record in the West, against which nothing of a damaging nature was brought, of his purpose in shouldering the responsibility in attending to the rental of the Palace Rooming House, and of his wife and family in Ontario. The plea came to a climax in requesting the jury to think wisely whether they would send Turner to prison for fourteen years on the word of his accusers under the circumstances, or let him spend Christmas with his family.

Prosecuting Attorney Bagg then addressed the jury and was followed by remarks by Judge Simmons. The Justice cautioned the jury against convicting Turner on the evidence of Sullivan alone, but reminded them that William J. Reynolds is a police officer and military man of long standing, and his testimony had been unbroken. He admitted that, all in all, a curious combination of statements had been made.

The jury, when instructed to render their verdict, required very little time to come to a decision. No finer looking, reasoning men ever sat in a jury box than that on the Turner case, and it seemed that all had concluded the matter before going behind closed doors.

The Sullivan Case.

In the case yesterday against ex-Chief Sullivan alleging that an oath was falsely administered, the decision was that the former chief was guilty of an offense, but without any evident criminal intent, and there being no other charge preferred against him he was released, paying a fine of fifty dollars.

Subscriber's Sound Views on Charities

In an unsigned letter to the Review a subscriber gives her views on Judge that it is a feminine subscriber on the matter of charities in Redcliff. The letter is very good and the Review would be glad to publish all letters verbatim if subscribers would sign their names. Any letters signed "a subscriber" etc. are uncertain of publication.

A portion of the letter follows: Having read with interest the articles on Charitable Work in the last two issues of the Review, I hope I am not assuming too much liberty by suggesting that a Relief Society be organized by co-operation of the Town Council, Churches, Civic League, Clubs and Lodges of the Town.

A committee, with power to act should be composed of members from the respective organizations. The next important step, a Relief Fund started, by each organization's subscription and by individual donations.

And, "Let us forget," while absorbed in Church, Bazaar and Social Balls, before the holidays, why not give a Charity Ball, to which everyone be invited, and show a true Christian Spirit by helping those who are needy and can not help themselves.

IN MEDICINE HAT

(From the Monetary Times)

Medicine Hat mineral authorities have long thought that where there was so much gas and coal, there must be oil in commercial quantities. Up to recently, however, no special effort was made to drill for oil.

Now long lines of men have been seen standing in front of the Dominion land office, in order to get a chance to file for oil. Usually it is a string of homesteaders' notes, but there has been a plentiful sprinkling of well-known citizens and business men, who seem to think it is worth while trying up a few sections of oil land. Hundreds of leases have been filed on the land office. Of course, all the leases must be outside those owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway, but many thousands of acres have been filed on north and northwest of this city, and also to the south and southwest.

About seven miles west of the city a well drilling rig has been at work, supposedly boring for gas, but when a depth of 2,700 feet is attained, it is known for a certainty that a point below the gas sand has been reached. Oil seepage have been discovered in several localities, and oil men of experience have looked over the district carefully and made examinations of likely localities.

Mr. W. R. Martin, an oil and gas expert of some 25 years' experience all over the world, maintains that there is much likelihood of finding oil in commercial quantities in the Medicine Hat district. To show his faith, Mr. Martin's company, the International Supply Company, will within sixty days, have an oil drilling rig on the ground, and will immediately start work.

At 11 o'clock a. m. in the church the subject will be "The Vision of God," and in the evening at 7:30 in the Empress Theatre, "How to escape the Devil."

City Improving Street Lighting

The city has installed thirteen of fifteen street lights and standards which were on hand recently. Fifth Street drew three of these while the rest have been distributed throughout the city. It is understood that one will probably be put on the corner of the Crown Lumber Yard and one near the Ornamental Iron Works. The two remaining lights, if they are not already spoken for, would be well located to be somewhere in the vicinity of the depot or up Sixth Street.

THE TOWN ELECTION.

The nominations for mayor and three councillors will take place on Monday, Dec. 1st and the election on Monday, Dec. 8th.

Mr. B. J. Bott has already signified his willingness to accept the nomination for mayor and we understand Mayor E. C. Daniels is to be a candidate to succeed himself.

There will be three councillors to choose Councilors Hodge, Sinclair and Crooks terms expiring. We understand that Councilor Hodge expects to stand for re-election, and that Councilors Sinclair and Crooks intend to retire.

The present time is a very critical one in Redcliff's stage of development and we need some good men at the head of our growing town. Without critiquing Mayor Daniels, who has probably done the best he knew how, we believe that Mr. B. J. Bott would make the best man for mayor because we believe he understands the needs of the town better and is in a better position to accomplish results.

Councilor Hodge has made a good Councilor and is deserving of re-election. As for the other two councillor positions we understand that Mr. H. A. Ireland, Mr. Goodison, manager of the Rolling Mills and Mr. J. L. Landis will be nominated. Mr. Ireland is an old resident and business man of Redcliff and we believe he will make a good councillor and therefore should be elected. Mr. Goodison and Mr. Landis are both good men and either one would make a good councillor.

In choosing a mayor and three members of the council the rate-payers should vote for the best interests of the town and drop all personal feelings and we believe that if Mr. Bott is elected mayor the rate-payers will have voted for the best interests of Redcliff.

THE MERCHANT'S ASSOCIATION

The above newly organized body has renamed itself the Business Men's Association. The name doesn't cut any figures, but its functions and purposes should not be misconstrued. The league was formed primarily to discuss and promote the interests of the whole town, but which center in securing from time to time local utilities and conveniences which will cause local trade to expand and as the months and years go by reach out into a wider field, eventually claiming trade that will make Redcliff a recognized distributing center.

To deviate from these grooves of its purposes is quite possible with the many side-lights that may be brought in, but it seems inadvisable that time be taken in considering matters that are up to the town council to rectify or to the discussion of policies until the body has worked a solution of several prime necessities of the retail trade and likewise in closer touch as an organization with the administration. However, it is well for the body as such to pass resolutions commenting favorably or unfavorably on public affairs and at critical times pull our own weight for the right cause. Otherwise let it be exclusively for the merchants.

The body has already accomplished considerable and should progress as a live organization. Its activities should in no way conflict with those of the Board of Trade. Both have their functions and both are in order and can work hand and hand.

THE PANAMA CANAL

The discussion and state discord arising from the problem of whether or not the United States should receive foreign shipping through the Panama Canal under the same terms and considerations as her own bottoms, is about to be adjusted by the United States in conceding the point.

Yet, notwithstanding, there were a few points at issue which counterbalanced the Republic in its toll contention. The most plausible argument against discrimination in favor of domestic shipping was that the great waterway is in the Isthmian region, where the United States is morally bound to exercise no further control than the enforcement of its "hands-off" policy, and likewise the laudable spirit which has created the canal conceived it as a work to benefit the world. But on the contrary, those who deprecated the course of the United States in proposing tolls have to remember that for 70 years that country has had no merchant marine, due to her own policy of putting her own shipping on the same basis as that of foreign vessels, while other nations practised discrimination. The United has levied practically the same tonnage taxes and her private docking companies have charged wharfage the same for all. The result was a decline of her merchant marine until it has become nil on the seas today.

Had the canal been within the confines of the Republic there could have been no logical objection to discriminatory tolls. However, the country will be recompensed for its $400,000,000 outlay in time by tolls made uniform to all nations.

The ferry question is still a live issue and will continue to be so until it has been built and a road graded down to it. The trade of the people on the south side of the river would do Redcliff more good than a factory employing 50 men.

A loading platform should be built on the C. P. R. right-of-way. This railroad corporation has done very little for Redcliff for the amount of freight they have taken out of this city, and it does seem to us that if the proposition was put up to the proper officials of that road they would see their way clear to build this platform for the convenience of shippers.

Employees of Labor should be protected by Liability Insurance! Let J. L. Landis & Co. write you a policy in a good strong company.

Brick Go Through Fire
Before they Go to You.

They are made from clay and the clay is burned in a heat that averages 2300 degrees Fahrenheit—a heat far greater than any fire they will ever be called upon to pass through in the walls of your house.

This is what makes Brick Fire-proof.

That is what makes Brick Frost-proof.

That is what makes Brick Imperishable.

Build Your Home of Brick-IT'S ECONOMY

True economy not only takes in the first cost but the cost that is to come. Brick houses of average construction cost but a few dollars more than lumber or stucco,—may $150. on a $3,500 house. But when they are erected cost stops. There are no repairs to be figured on. There is no painting to be counted in every 3 or 4 years. There is no depreciation in price,—consequently your house will sell for what it cost you, plus the increase of the value of your lot in the meantime. There is a reduction in the insurance rate of 37 1/2 per cent over concrete or stucco and more than 50 per cent over lumber. There is a reduction in fuel bills, because brick keeps out the frost in winter. There is comfort in summer because brick keeps out the heat. And above all you can borrow more money from your bank on a brick house ten years after it is constructed than you can on a lumber or concrete of the same value in the same period of time. When you build, build for true economy.

When Death Heals Breach
Due to Betrothal

A linguist to the extent that she can speak quite fluently six colloquial tongues, Polish, Hungarian, Bohemian and of several states of Austria somewhat similar in their formation, a graduate of a Vienna conservatoire of music, and a perfect lady in her tastes little Mitzie Conrad, reared amid surroundings of luxury, in Austria is on route to the land of her birth.

Mitzie (pronounced "Mitzi") left the old country in a huff, the story goes, because her parents refused to reconcile themselves to her betrothal to a young Jew, coming possessor of landed wealth through inheritance. The deadlock was over the matter of religion and the parents of neither party to the prospective union would listen to it. So one day Mitzie quietly prepared to escape to America and her lover furnished her with the money to pay her passage.

She came as far as Chicago where there lived an aunt who had come from the old country. After but a short time there she was led to Minneapolis by the alluring promises of an uncle in that city that she would be favored with luxury and musical education if she would come to him. When she reached the Flour City the plans had changed and she must come to Redcliff, where there were theaters, music, etc. etc. but when she and her uncle, who came to take a position in the Ornamental Iron Works arrived she found not the center of music, art and languishing ease which she was anticipating.

Then her uncle did not do by her as she expected, and it is understood that he brought her into the country ostensibly as his daughter, in the information given to the immigration officials.

So Mitzie had to get into the old daily grind, a thing she had never done before. Her uncle left her, it is said, and as her aunt was disgusted with her because she left her to go to this uncle, she was thrown onto the mercy of a cold world. She could not speak English, but in three months' residence in Redcliff she became quite able to express herself. (Some times too well, they say.)

John M. Jones, proprietor of the Northern Hotel, was appointed her guardian and Mitzie worked as a waitress in the hotel. Some days she would work like a Trojan and again she would feel her former position and "go on a strike," demoralizing the discipline of all.

"I like this not; I never had done this before; I am a lady."

Her father had passed away shortly after she left and had settled upon her a large estate to come to her after she should reach the age of twenty-four. Until that time she should have only the interest on the money. But as Mitzie was stranded here it was no more good to her than a barrel of gold at the north pole. Finally a few days ago Mitzie received an order for 1,000 Kronen ($200) from her lover and instructions to come at once. She gave the order to a well known young man of Redcliff to get it converted into coin of the realm and got all ready to leave the next night. When she was all ready to catch the train she asked for the money and found that it had not been cashed. There were some fireworks; then she went to the Hat on the understanding that the railroad agent would cash it. This they refused to do and she came back to Redcliff the next day on phone instructions, but it was Saturday and the banks were closed at noon.

But Mitzie finally got started off to her "luffer" in the land where "I get up at nine in the morning, and my maid she brings my breakfast to the door."

Fire Chief TurnerAbout to Resign*Freed of Charges Lately
Over Him, He Thinks
New Blood is Better

Fire Chief Turner wishes that all of the firemen be notified to meet at the fire hall Sunday afternoon, at which time he would like to see a censor appointed in his stead. Mr. Turner says that during the whole of his recent difficulties while he was laboring under charges made falsely against him he had the help of his hand and support of the firemen, but that officials and others seemed to frown on him and for that reason he feels that now since he is exonerated and on an equal footing with firemen it is expedient that he should resign.

Mr. Turner says that during the period between his arrest on August 14 and his acquittal of the charges brought against him by Ex-Chief Sullivan and Constable Reynolds he would not resign because not being guilty he had nothing to resign for, but now that it is all over he thinks it for the best.

FOUNDRY WORK OF ALL KINDS

Canada SuppliesTwo-thirds of World's Nickel

Two-thirds of the world's nickel supply comes from Canada. The Canadian nickel ore deposits occur in Ontario, and the only other extensive deposits from which large outputs are obtained are in New Caledonia, France. The mines there, which produce practically the remaining third of the world's supply, are controlled by France, and the Krupp Company is understood to have obtained some control in the interests of Germany. The most important use of nickel is in the manufacture of nickel steel, largely required for the manufacture of guns. The Canadian exports, therefore, would be of great importance in case of war, and other European countries might be seriously hampered should the output be curtailed or stopped.

The mines of the Sudbury district The Monetary Times is informed by the provincial bureau of mines, continued to increase their output this year and the outlook is for still further production. The Canadian Copper Company and the Mond Nickel Company remain the sole producers of nickel matte. Recent drilling operations have proven the existence of very large ore reserves. The Alexo mine, on the Porcupine branch of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway is interesting as being separated about 140 miles in a direct line from the Sudbury mines, and so proving the existence of ore quite outside the older field. The shipments are made to the Mond Company's new smelting plant at Coniston, which came into operation early last year.—Monetary Times.

Men's League Rooms Acme of Comfort

Papers and Magazines, Bag,
Mat and Piano and Smoking
Room Welcome:

To one who is unfamiliar with the efforts of the members of the Men's Christian League in Redcliff and their accomplishments the quarters which they have fitted up in the basement of the Howard Block are a revelation. The principle and spirit behind the movement which launched the league is one of appreciation of the desires and necessities of young men and old which call for more than spiritual enlightenment alone to make the highest type.

As Rev. Hinkle says, it is for red-blooded men who want wholesome diversion and amusement. The club rooms even include a smoking room where men can get into lounging comfort and smoke and read. There are no religious obligations connected with the enjoyment of the privileges of the rooms. Eight daily newspapers have been subscribed for and will be kept accessible on racks. There will also be magazines and on one side of the large room is a vesting hall where friendly bouts may be had any time. On one of the big center beams hangs a punching bag and over in the corner is a piano. Chess, checkers, etc. may be played at any hour. On Sunday afternoon addresses will be made by visiting and local speakers.

The principle of the clubrooms is to supply an everybody's lounging place where men who have no place but their own room or a bar room to enjoy themselves can find solid comfort and companionship.

Next Tuesday the formal opening of the rooms will be held with a public reception. A good program is being arranged and the social committee promises a good time. The ladies are as welcome as the men at this occasion.

This coming Sunday Mr. J. A. How, a real estate man from Medicine Hat, will address the three o'clock and all men's men at come.

Chinaman To Build.

Charlie Hin, of Redcliff, has purchased a lot on Third Street south of Glendon & Tupper's store on the west side of the street and is about to erect a two story brick business block. It is not announced as yet what use the building will be put to. The J. L. Landis Co. through T. C. Hills brought about the deal.

BREVITIES

Mrs. W. H. Shewen and daughter Marion returned Sunday morning from Oregon, both in the best of health and greatly benefited by their two months trip.

Last Friday evening's dance given by the Bojor News Club was the most largely attended and successful one yet held by the club. It was cut somewhat short and to many was more satisfactory for that reason.

Mr. Chas. Crawford, left Monday evening for San Francisco, via Spokane. Mr. Crawford has had considerable experience in exposition construction and expects to become connected with the work preparatory for the big fair.

Mr. W. J. Hayes, of the Silver Agencies, is moving into his new home in Selkirk Park on Second street south this week and little Kathryn will no longer be a daily sight at the Laurel Hotel.

Archie Cohen return to Redcliff from points to the east on Tuesday. Mr. Cohen expects to reach Minneapolis in a few days and may go down to Hot Springs, Ark., with his mother, who is not in the best of health.

David Broadbent, manager of the Redcliff Hotel, was confined to his bed the fore part of the week suffering with neuralgia. He is up and around again.

General Manager George Lydiate, of the Dominion Glass Company, made a trip to Calgary the first of the week on business.

Mr. H. B. Corson, manager of the Ornamental Iron Company, ran a nail clear through his foot a few days ago while around his home and is laid up for the time. Nothing serious is expected to result from the injury.

John Nicholson, the harness man, is putting in a foundation on Fifth street, to the rear of the Laurel Hotel for a building for his own business purposes to be erected in the spring.

Almond L. Monteth, left Saturday for Minneapolis and Chicago in connection with the settlement of a will.

Mr. J. G. Reid is opening a store in Young's building on Third street near Third avenue with a complete line of flour and feed.

Ray Nicholson left Wednesday evening for his old home in Michigan to be gone about a month.

Mr. Wm. Miller has returned from Misses Law, where his wife and baby are living.

We are making a special price on first quality bedding of all kinds. Gibson & Tupper's Cash Store.

Would Organize It?

Mr. A. Henderson, of Redcliff, wants to get the Knights of Pythias together, and for that purpose wishes them to get in touch with him at the Northern Hotel.

Grinding Mill Next

A man from Francis, Sask., is contemplating putting in a little grinding mill in Redcliff if he can get a good location. He has been negotiating for the Sixth Street auto garage and if arrangements can be closed with Mr. Wm. Miller the mill will be in operation within three weeks. It would be an addition that would attract the farming trade.
